COURSE OF STUDY

Method Paper offered

A candidate has to select any one of the following school subjects which he/she has studied at the UG/PG level with at least 300 marks.

I)English

II)Bengali

III)Hindi

IV)Mathematics

V)PhysicalScience

VI)LifeScience

VII)History

VIII)Geography

IX)PoliticalScience

Important Points

1) Some applicants may have got mark-sheets having no paper-wise marks or even the total marks. Such mark-sheets contain only grade/gradepoint without clearly stating the percentage. In such cases the candidates should state the percentage after calculating it according the applicable rules and norms. The applicants will have to justify their calculation, if required.

2) Percentage of marks to be calculated taken into consideration all the subjects except Environmental Science and compulsory language at the graduate level.

Percentage should be decided only on two digits fraction. For example, if the fraction is 52.8273 it should be stated only as 52.82 and not as 52.83.

3)The applicants must study the opted method subject at UG/PG level.

4) To study Physical Science as method subject one must study Physics or Chemistry at UG/PG level. No other subject will be considered for offering Physical Science as method subject.

5) To study Life Science as method subject one must study Zoology/ Botany/ Physiology at UG/PG level. No other subject will be considered for offering Life Science as method subject.

6) Honours or PG in Comparative Literature will not be considered for letting him/her pursue B.Ed course with English/Bengali/Hindi as method subject.

7)i)The applicants having studied any subject of 200 marks should consider the subject as only one. For example, ifs/he studied english with 200 marks and the obtained marks are shown under one heading only, e.g.140(out of 200) and the remaining subjects are of 100 marks each then s/he should calculate the percentage on the basis of Total Marks 600 and not 500. If all the papers are of 200 marks each then the percentage should be calculated on the basis of 1000, total of five subjects.In such cases one subject consists of two papers and the applicants have to calculate the percentage on the basis of five subjects and not on five papers.

ii) The applicants doing their Secondary or Higher Secondary from any board should calculate their percentage on the basis of best 5 subjects as per their scored marks against the concerned subjects.

iii)'Best five subjects means any five subjects, including Additional but except the paper on Environment Education(Compulsory).

8) At the time of counseling or admission, the deputed candidates must submit the Managing Committeeresolution(duly countersigned bytheDistrictInspector) mentioning the date of appointment, designation, etc.of the concerned candidate along with the continuity of service, ifany.

If more than one candidate have the same length of service then the academic computational score will be the decidingfactor.

9) On 28th May, 2016 1st merit list for document verification will be published in college website.
